I Installed playnite on Linux / steam deck

Showcase

I have been wanting to do this for a long time since I have so many games from different stores. And want to organise them and find them easily. Will update the post with my progress:

Best and quickest way:

Ok in the end I'm doing it through a virtual machine, and it works great, first time I have used a VM:

Steps:

0.Go to desktop mode

1.Installed Boxes from discovery

2.Downloaded windows iso from Windows website , and pointed boxes to that iso when creating a new VM on Boxes.

3. Installed Playnite inside the windows VM.

4.Added boxes to steam to run it on playmode

Different way:

Using lutris, won't work as good, harder to set up:

Steps:

Go to desktop mode->discovery.

Install wine.

Install lutris.

Run lutris.

Look for playnite.

Install it.

Once installed, Configure -> use wine and proton version of wine in runner option.

Add it to steam

If you get the error can't find playniteUI.exe Go into configure on lutris for playnite, and point to the right playnite.desktop.exe file. Where it was installed.

I couldn't download metadata from Amazon and Epic, so I chose steam universal in addon->browse metadata to download it and pc gaming wiki, and then click download metadata

Issues using lutris: Can't download itch.io and gog integrations Here is a Spanish YouTuber with a walkthrough using lutris: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=%5C_4Bp1HO6efY&t=65s

For anyone, like me, who doesn't already have the wine version shown in the video, you need to install ProtonUp-Qt.

Run it. Switch "Install For" from Steam, to Lutris. click Add Version.

Switch "Compatibility tool" to Lutris-wine"

Then pick whichever version. (I installed 7.2.2, GE, 7.2.2 fshack for completeness)

Thanks for the guide OP!

-- EDIT --

I do have an issue, when I start it, I get the dialog like in the video. I select Yes, I get the Playnite splash screen, but it never disappears, and the First Time Configuration dialog never appears. (been waiting 5 minutes so far)

For GOG integration to install you need to install Playnite latest (which is 10.18), rather than the 9.1.6 version.

Unfortunately auth windows are empty, except for URL.

There doesn't seem to be a way to directly install Playnite latest. Errors with exit code 256. "Unrecoverable error occurred and installed will now close" at the point it's running PlayniteInstaller (easiest way is install 9.1.6, then run installer for 10.18)

(I've tried changing the version of wine used for install. So far System 8.02, lutris 7.2.2, lutris proton GE. All fail at the same point)

I may yet end up in a VM :((to be fair I only want Playnite so I can easily see what games I have)

I had the same problem. I think maybe using bottles may be a solution to use the latest version? Yeah same here I really need playnite to see the games I have. Don't care about launching them through the app. Yeah try the VM I wonder if there is a way to decrease windows installation size. I think avoiding updates on Windows help
